

Vision and Mission of the Council on Older Persons

Mission: As an advisory committee of The Center for Community Solutions, the Council on Older Persons' (COOP) mission is to promote a better understanding of aging and address the issues and concerns of older person in Greater Cleveland through citizen-led needs assessment, policy development, community education and advocacy. COOP's members include leaders in the aging network who come together to develop strategies, lead advocacy efforts, and implement solutions.

Vision: COOP's vision is to shift the community conversation away from one that looks at older adults and persons with disabilities as liabilities. Instead, these individuals and the systems that serve with and for them are community assets and priority stakeholders. They are essential to the future of Northeast Ohio. These individuals and systems make essential contributions to the local economy, enhance the social fabric of the community, and add value to the human services sector.

Advocacy Organization of the Year

Older Adults are an asset to the Community

Economic Impact

Employers — Baby Boomers ages 45 to 64 form businesses at a higher rate than other age groups. Retiring Boomer business owners will sell or bequeath $10 trillion worth of assets over the next two decades (Source: CABB)

Employees — Seniors are employees, providing immeasurable wisdom and experiences to fellow employees in the workplace

Volunteers — Seniors are volunteers, providing unpaid service and knowledge to the community (seniors accounted for 23 million volunteer in 2015, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics)

Homeowners — Senior homeowners generate income and property tax receipts

Nationally, seniors hold $8 trillion in home equity.
